

Jane Lamm – Jane Lamm is a native of North Carolina. She received a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Painting from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. After graduation Jane moved to Houston, Texas where she and her husband reared two children. They are now living in Chapel Hill North Carolina. Jane enjoys working in many mediums. While in Houston Jane studied porcelain painting from Rudi Seehagen, a former head instructor at the Berlin Royal Porcelain Manufactory. Jane also did mural paintings and studied portrait painting with Bill Kalwick. Jane combined her art talent with her love for golf. Jane did commissioned golf course scenes in oil. She has a painting in the Texas Golf Hall of Fame. Jane has done medical illustrations. She illustrated Medical and Psychosocial Aspects of Chronic Illness and Disability by Donna Falvo. Now living in North Carolina Jane is turning her energy to portraits and Plein Air painting this beautiful state. Jane is a founding member of PAINT – Plein Air IN The Triangle.